

COL. MULHALL TESTIFIES AT NIGHT SESSION OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE

SENATOR OVERMAN DECIDES ON NIGHT MEETING AFTER HOUSE COMMITTEE ISSUES SUBPOENAS

Witness Declares He Refused $5,000 Bribe and a Life Position in the Naval Service in 1892--First Interested in N. A. of
M. in 1902--Senate Orders Witness to Appear Before Committee at Nine O'Clock this Morning.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—After an all day effort to settle the question of whether the senate lobby investigators or the new house committee should stage an inquiry into the confession of Col. M. M. Mulhall, diplomatic negotiations were broken off tonight and the senate committee called Col. Mulhall at a night session. Senator Overman had announced earlier that no session would be held tonight but the meeting was decided on after Chairman Garrett of the house committee had armed the sergeant-at-arms with subpoenas and sent them scurrying about Washington after Col. Mulhall and J. H. McMichael, who was charged by Mulhall with having acted as paid informant of the National Association of Manufacturers' lobbyists while employed on the floor of the house. This terminated a day of jurisdictional conflict. The Garrett committee had asked Senator Overman yesterday for at least copies of the Mulhall correspondence. The senate committee did not surrender it. After the house committee met today it recessed to allow Representatives Garrett, Russell and Nolan to go to the senate committee and renew their request for the "papers." This time they were officially refused.

Issue Summons.
Back to their side of the capitol went the disappointed house investigators and a strenuous executive session was held. Balked in the effort to secure the papers the committee decided to do the next best thing. Although both Col. Mulhall and McMichael were under subpoena by the senate committee, the house committee issued subpoenas for their appearance at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Sergeant-at-arms were at once dispatched to serve the summons. Within half an hour after the house committee had decided on this course and Representative Garrett has issued a statement saying that Col. Mulhall would be put on the stand at 9 o'clock in the morning, an hour of meeting extraordinary for legislative committees in order that he might later testify before the senate committee, Senator Overman announced his night session. He said that Col. Mulhall was to be examined as to "preliminary" matters. Mulhall waited about the senate office building all day. He went in to the hearing room early in the morning, spent an hour there and then went to Senator Reed's private office.

While Mulhall was in the committee room John Kirby, Jr., and D. M. Parry, former president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and J. A. Murray, its local counsel, sat outside by a window and appeared not to have a care in the world.

Principally in Politics.
Mulhall took the stand tonight and subscribed to the oath with a smile on his face. Senator Reed, designated by Chairman Overman to examine the witness, began by placing in evidence a list of the officers of the National Association of Manufacturers in 1907 and a list of the members of the association. Mulhall said he was born in 1859 and had lived in Baltimore more than thirteen years. He said before he went with the National Association of Manufacturers, he was principally in politics and was connected with the republican national committee.

"I refused a bribe of $5,000 and a life position in the naval service in 1892," said Mulhall. "That year I had charge of the republican campaign in Albany and Rensselaer counties, New York. Previous to that I had charge of William McKimley's gubernatorial campaign in Ohio."

The witness said he first became interested in the National Association of Manufacturers in 1902 when he met Marshall Cushing, its secretary, in a Washington hotel.

Sensor Reed asked him about his relations with labor. He said the late Senator Quay of Pennsylvania sent him to confer with John Mitchell during the anthracite strike in the Pennsylvania fields in 1902 to get the "inside story." During that time, Mulhall said, he arranged for a conference between Governor Stone of Pennsylvania and three labor leaders. The first Mulhall letter introduced was addressed to Mitchell in February, 1902, relating to these meetings. A letter of March 18, 1902, from Mulhall to Mitchell declared that the leaders of the republican organization could do more for the miners' union "than any arbitration board in existence."

A letter dated May 17, 1902, from Mulhall to Mitchell told of a conference between Mulhall and Governor Stone at which Stone expressed sympathy with the miners. "I think you could make a grand stroke," the letter said, in suggesting the calling of a strike. "If you would meet Governor Stone and make him your friend; he will be of great assistance to you in the event of an anthracite strike."

A letter in August in 1901 from M. Carroll Downs, who Mulhall said was secretary to the late Senator McComas of Maryland, was put in the record by Reed. It related to the employment of two men in the treasury department in Washington.

Intimate With McComas.
Mulhall said he enjoyed close political relations with Senator McComas and that the men for whom the employment was secured were officers of the Molders' union in Baltimore. Edward Booth, one of the sergeants-at-arms with subpoenas sent them scurrying about Washington after Col. Mulhall and J. H. McMichael, who was charged by Mulhall with having acted as paid informant of the National Association of Manufacturers' lobbyists while employed on the floor of the house. This terminated a day of jurisdictional conflict. The Garrett committee had asked Senator Overman yesterday for at least copies of the Mulhall correspondence. McKENNA CONFESSES TO BIGAMY CHARGE

HAS WIFE IN MILWAUKEE AND ANOTHER IN WHITE HALL

Admits He Married Mrs. Margaret McKenna of Milwaukee in 1900 and Later Was Married to Mrs. Pearl McKenna of White Hall—Mind Became a Blank.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., July 11.—While his wife Mrs. Margaret McKenna, clinging to him and promising faith and confidence, and with the police attempting to drag him to the police station, Michael McKenna, a well known railroad man here today broke down in the union station and confessed that he was a bigamist.

Immediately after the confession McKenna was started on his way to Carrollton, Ill., where there is a warrant awaiting him.

McKenna, according to his confession, was married to Mrs. Margaret McKenna in 1900. The couple lived here and a son, Arthur, was born. One day, McKenna claims, his mind became a blank and he left Milwaukee. For weeks he wandered about the country and finally drifted into White Hall, Ill., where he married Mrs. Pearl McKenna.

This marriage, McKenna claimed, was contracted, while he was under the peculiar mental strain and under the impression that his first wife was dead. Three children were born during this union and the couple then moved to Ottawa, Ill. While walking on the streets to work one day, McKenna says, he met his first wife whom he had thought dead. They immediately returned to Milwaukee where they have resided ever since. The man, however, never told his first wife of his other marriage.

Six months ago McKenna was injured and the story of the accident was printed broadcast. It reached the Illinois wife, she came to Milwaukee and the arrest followed.

Since McKenna's return to his first wife a baby girl has been born.

RAMSEY SAYS CAR SHOPS TO REMAIN IN JACKSONVILLE

Sum Raised by Springfield Business Men Not Sufficient to Authorize Expenditure of $100,000.

Springfield, July 11.—That the C. P. & St. L. road is not at present in a position to expend $100,000 for the removal of the shops, now at Jacksonville to Springfield, was the statement to-day of General Manager Ramsey.

Agitation was started some time ago by the business men of Springfield to have the shops moved from Jacksonville over to this city. For that end they raised subscriptions amounting to over $10,000.

"For some time the matter has dragged along, neither party seeming willing to take the initiative. To-day Mr. Ramsey said that matters were still where they were two months ago, as far as any further action being taken."

He said that while $10,000 had been raised towards the moving, yet such a change would entail an expenditure of over $100,000, and that the road was not in a position to make the desired change.

Admitting that it would be of greater advantage for the road to have its shops located in Springfield he stated that the added advantages accruing to the road would not be worth the difference between $100,000 and $10,000.

It was his contention, however, that some time in the future the shops eventually would be moved to Springfield, as the increasing demands of the road would warrant such a move.

ENGINEER KILLED IN WRECK OF SOUTHERN PASSENGER TRAIN

Detachment is Caused by an Inch Bolt and Brick Placed on Track By Some Boys.

Mr. Vernon, Ill., July 11.—Engineer Hugh Funk of Princeton, Ind., was killed and Fireman Carroll was badly scalded when a Southern railway passenger train was derailed at Wayne City near here to-day. The engine and two front baggage coaches left the tracks. Funk was pinned beneath his cab. None of the passengers was injured.

Wreck Caused by Boys.
It was learned tonight that the wreck near Wayne City was caused by an inch bolt and a brick placed on the track by some boys in play. The engine reversed its position and tore up the track for some distance. The fireman, John Carroll also of Princeton, Ind., was placed in a local hospital.

TO WAR ON SHYSTER LAWYERS.
Mobile, Ala., July 11.—Shyster lawyers and others of the legal profession who resort to sharp practice are going to be run out of Alabama if the combined effort of the members of the Alabama State Bar association can accomplish that end. The subject was exhaustively discussed at the opening here to-day of the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the association. Following an address by Frank S. White of Birmingham president of the association, other members pointed out the dangers that come to the people and to the reputable members of the profession through the operations of unscrupulous lawyers. Publicity is to be the chief weapon with which the association will fight what is described as an increasing menace.

BULGARIA NOW ANXIOUS FOR PEACE

Hostilities Among the Balkan Nations are Believed to be Virtually Ended

MAKES NO OPPOSITION

Bulgars Have Decided Not to Oppose Roumania's Occupation of Silistria

HOPE FOR LASTING PEACE

LONDON, July 11.—Having failed in her hazardous coup, Bulgaria is now showing herself anxious for peace. No formal armistice has yet been arranged but it is believed hostilities are virtually ended. It is feared, however, that the settlement of peace conditions will prove a long task, many new elements have entered to complicate matters.

Bulgaria decision not to oppose Roumania's occupation of Silistria and the strip of territory she desires removes one difficulty. But other developments, such as the Greek occupation of Kavala, to which Bulgaria is expected to offer bitter resistance are calculated to lead to trouble some negotiations especially as both Serbia and Greece on the outcome of their campaign will be certain to demand possession of the territory they occupied previous to the war. Russia is already taking steps in the Balkan capitals to arrange for a cessation of hostilities.

The British chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd-George, addressing the bankers at a dinner at the Mansion House tonight referred to Balkan affairs. He said the first trouble was over and he was hopeful that the powers which had started so well together, would be able to effect a lasting settlement among these helpless provinces. As long as the Balkan states did nothing to upset the decisions already agreed to among the powers continued the chancellor, it was to be hoped that no power would find it necessary to take action likely to give rise to difficulty among the great powers themselves.

Greeks Are Victorious.

Athens, July 11.—General Ivanoff's army together with three divisions of the Istip force aggregating 112 battalions, made its last stand in a strongly entrenched position near Demirhisar, on the left bank of the river Struma, and on the adjacent heights of Intrina, which were well defended with siege artillery. The heavy guns effectively destroyed the advance of the Greek infantry and as the Greek artillery was out ranged, the battle was indecisive for a considerable time.

Under cover of darkness, however, the attack was renewed and in a brilliant charge the Greeks dislodged the Bulgars from the heights and drove them across the Struma. In their retreat the Bulgarians destroyed the railway for some distance again checking the Greek advance.

The Greeks then directed their march along the right bank of the river, supported by mountain batteries and compelled the Bulgarians hurriedly to abandon their position leaving behind four heavy guns and a quantity of ammunition.

Capture Kustendilla.

Vienna, July 11.—A Belgrade rumor says the Servians have captured Kustendilla after two days fighting.

GALESBURG CLUB CAPTURES GOLF TEAM COMPETITION

Springfield and Peoria Tied For Second Honors—Simpson Makes Best Medal Score.

Galesburg, Ill., July 11.—Galesburg won the six man team competition here to-day when they finished the 36 hole match 1 up on bogey. The nearest rivals of the Soangetah club players were Springfield and Peoria both of whom finished 3 down and tied for second honors. The other teams stood:

Danville 7 down.
Champaign 10 down.
Bloomington 14 down.
Quincy 26 down.
Decatur 23 down.

Noah Dixon of Springfield and Joe Jarl of Galesburg, tied for the best individual bogey score with 18 up. Dixon won on the playoff. John Simpson of Galesburg won the gold medal for the best medal score for 18 holes. His score 38-39-77.

Coulter and Graham of Bloomington won the tennis championship from Miller and Wiley of Decatur in a fast match to-day.

Score—0-6, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. Bloomington also won the honors in the singles. Coulter and Graham tied in the final match and will play for the championship cup in Bloomington tomorrow.

The tournament events were concluded by an informal dinner and dance.

APPROVE LEVEE WORK

Cairo, Ill., July 11.—Members of the Illinois river sand lakes commission were in Cairo to-day and approved of the allotment of levee work to be done by the state in a sixty foot levee here.

PRESIDENT WILSON ON EXPLORING EXPEDITION

MAKES LONG AUTOMOBILE TRIP ON UNFREQUENTED ROAD

Executive Sees Mountains From Unusual Vantage Points—Will Hold Conference at Washington With Railway Men Monday as Planned.

CORNISH, N. H., July 11.—President Wilson went exploring in his automobile today. He took an unfrequented road and his big car picked its way slowly and cautiously over a mountain ridge. The machine mounted the hills with little difficulty but frequently in the descents brakes were thrown on tight. The trip was made without mishap and the view of the surrounding hills amply repaid the president for the bumping he got, as both he and Mrs. Wilson saw the Green mountains from unusual vantage points.

On one occasion the president's machine came to a natural stop and moved off the road entirely into a front yard. Half of the road had just been covered with oil and the other was blocked by a big team. In order to avoid getting out of the machine, the president suggested that his car drive over a little knoll into a front yard near a farm house until the team had passed. No other incident of note occurred today.

Nominations to the Senate.

Washington, July 11.—President Wilson today sent the following nominations to the senate:

Ambassador to Germany—James W. Gerard of New York.

Minister to Spain—Joseph E. Willard of Virginia.

Deputy commissioner of pensions—Edward C. Tieman of Missouri.

Postpones Consideration.

The meeting at the white house scheduled for Monday between President Wilson, railway officials and representatives of the employees' union, will take place as planned, according to announcement today by Secretary Wilson of the department of labor. On account of the white house conference the house will postpone consideration of the proposed amendments to the Erdman act which were to have been taken up tomorrow. Indications are, however, that at first session after the conference the senate bill to provide for an arbitration board of six members will be passed.

SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM SWEEPS NORTHWESTERN MISSOURI

Wind, Hail and Rain Storm Does
Great Damage to Growing Crops

St. Joseph, Mo., July 11.—A severe wind and electric storm swept northwest Missouri this afternoon. Virgil Vogler, 13 years of age, was killed and his brother was knocked down and slightly injured when lightning struck a barn on his father's farm near Plattsburg, Mo.

Hail accompanied the storm at Cameron, Mo., where trees were blown down, windows broken and three inches of rain fell in half an hour. Hail did much damage to crops in a large territory east of here.

Killed by Lightning.

Lees Summit, Mo., July 11.—Mrs. F. C. Waters was killed and her two children were seriously injured when lightning struck a barn in which they had taken refuge on a farm near here during a wind, hail and rain storm today. Her 15-year-old daughter was badly burned and her son's hearing was damaged.

Dies of Injuries.

Rockford, Ill., July 11.—Mrs. Bridge Tynan died tonight from injuries suffered while trying to rescue her chickens during the tornado Tuesday.

N. E. A. SESSIONS CLOSE.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 11.—With a general session in the tabernacle tonight the fifty-fifth annual convention of the National Educational association and affiliated societies came to a close. Dr. Joseph Swain, president-elect spoke briefly upon the program for the ensuing year.

Thomas Jess Johns of the United States bureau of education pleaded for more democracy in education.

Speaking on the subject of morality and wages, Irene E. McDermott of Pittsburgh, declared that education must be looked to in order to increase efficiency so much that employers would raise wages voluntarily. Education also, would prevent immorality among girls where a minimum wage would not.

DEMANDS RELEASE OF FIVE AMERICANS

ARE HELD BY MEXICAN REVOLUTION-ISTS AT HIDALGO

Texas Are Imprisoned and Their Property Seized Because They Were Said to Have Traded With Huerta Sympathizers.

Washington, July 11.—Secretary Garrison today ordered Col. Edwin P. Brewer of the Fourteenth Cavalry at Fort McIntosh, Texas, to demand the release of five Americans together with 350 cattle and 30 horses held by Mexican revolutionists at Hidalgo, Mexico. Secretary Bryan requested the action.

The attention of the state department was called by Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, to the imprisonment of the Americans and the seizure of their property. When Consul Garrett demanded the release of his countrymen the revolutionists told him they must await orders from Piedras Negras.

So great is the lawlessness around Tampico that the better class of Mexicans have joined Americans in organizing vigilante committees and under commission of the federal military governor of San Luis Potosi. Already fourteen bandits have been hanged. It is expected that a military governor will take charge of the state of Tamaulipas as has been done in Vera Cruz and San Luis Potosi during the last few days.

The consul at Matzelen has reported that port and that he has already sent 200 refugees to San Francisco. Traded With Huerta Sympathizers.

Laredo, Texas, July 11.—Five American prisoners by constitutionalists at Hidalgo, Mex., near Colombia on the Texas border are from well known Texas families. Threats of organizing a "rough rider" regiment and crossing the border to release them have been made.

American Consul Garrett at Hidalgo was today negotiating for their release. Cattle, horses and other property of the prisoners was reported confiscated.

Their offense was said to have been trading with Huerta sympathizers. Those under arrest are Robert, Arthur and Ashton Hazelegg, Isaac Cade and William Randolph.

Will Not Discuss Question.

Washington, July 11.—Secretary Bryan, who made public the order to Colonel Brewer declined to discuss the question of what would be done in the event the revolutionists declined to give up the Americans and their property. It was regarded as a question at the state department that Col. Brewer's demand would be complied with promptly.

Hidalgo is on the Texas border at 50 miles northwest of Fort McIntosh and it is expected the colonel will execute his mission before many hours pass.

Two Prisoners Released.

Laredo, Texas, July 11.—Late to-day two American prisoners Ashton and Harry Hazelrigg sons of J. B. Hazelrigg were ordered released by constitutionalists at Hidalgo. The other prisoners and their property were held.

Anti-American Sentiment.

Mexico City, July 11.—It is quite probable that the anti-American sentiment expressed in the press and by the public may become a subject of international discussion. The American ambassador is giving this matter his attention. The embassy has had some difficulty in transacting business with certain departments of the Mexican government and recently the ambassador felt it necessary to demand the removal of officials because of what he regarded as his immediate pertinent attitude. Ambassador Wilson has made a full report to Washington on the anti-American articles.

GOVERNOR DUNNE AND PARTY WILL TAKE TRIP ON LAKE MICHIGAN

Will Not Leave Illinois Shore For Enough to Make It Necessary For O'Hara to Take the Executive Chair.

Springfield, Ill., July 11.—On the waters of Lake Michigan but close enough to the Illinois shore to make it unnecessary for Lieut. Gov. O'Hara to take the executive chair during his absence, Governor Dunne will definitely decide on the persons whom he will appoint to state offices. The governor, accompanied by Mrs. Dunne and several of the Dunne children, his private secretary, William L. Sullivan, and Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connell, plans to board the naval reserve ship Dubuque at Chicago next Wednesday morning for a cruise of a week on Lake Michigan. It is possible for the Dubuque to cover a considerable expanse of water without actually getting out of the state of Illinois and it is the intention of the governor to direct affairs of state while on his vacation. This will save the state a considerable sum of money as the statutes provide that the lieutenant governor shall receive the same salary as the governor when the latter is absent from the state.

Visits Camp Lincoln.

Governor Dunne this afternoon visited Camp Lincoln and reviewed the First Regiment, I. N. G. The governor was met at the gate by a battalion under command of Major Chinnin and escorted to headquarters with a salute of seventeen guns. The First Regiment returns to Chicago tomorrow night and will be succeeded by the second regiment.

BEGIN DISCUSSION OF BILL WEDNESDAY

Debate on Underwood Tariff Revision Bill Will Commence in Senate

McCUMBER WILL SPEAK

Opening Attack Will be Made by Sen. McCumber on Agricultural Schedule

DEBATE TO TAKE FIVE WEEKS

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Discussion of the Underwood-Simmons tariff revision bill with its lengthy free list, greatly reduced rates on all commodities and its new system of ad valorem instead of specific rates, will actually begin in the senate next Wednesday at noon. On Monday, however, the opening assault upon the Democratic measure will be made by Senator McCumber of North Dakota who will speak on the agricultural schedule. The finance committee agreed that he should be given the floor ahead of the formal opening because he is obliged to leave Washington Monday night. Chairman Simmons speaking for the Democrats at the finance committee meeting today, said he thought debate on the bill could be concluded in five weeks and Senator Smoot of the minority agreed with him declaring that the Republicans had no intention of purposely prolonging the discussion. After the committee early in the day had ordered the bill reported Wednesday minority members began to plan their reports. There probably will be two by Senators Penrose, Smoot, Lodge, McCumber, Gallinger and Clark and a separate report by Senator La Follette who has had a corps of experts at work on the bill and who will have amendments that will constitute practically a new measure. Senator Smoot has in preparation a new wool schedule which he intends to submit as an amendment Wednesday. Senator Simmons will file the majority report and make the opening arguments for the Democrats and the administration. During consideration of the measure Senator Simmons will have general charge of the debate for the Democrats and Senator Penrose for the Republicans. Senator Simmons, however, will parcel out the bill to the various members of the finance committee majority following the plan adopted by Mr. Underwood in the house. As reported to the senate the bill contained comparatively few changes from that which was reported three weeks ago to the Democratic caucus by the finance committee majority. Among these were a few changes in rates and the free listing of anti-money ore, blankets costing less than forty cents a pound, cast iron pipes of every description, raw furs, gunpowder and a few other commodities swelling the long list of articles free listed by the committee previously and the already long list in the house bill.

One amendment not heretofore announced makes zinc bearing ore of all kinds dutiable at 12 1-2 per cent, an increase from 10 per cent over the house bill. The amendment provides that on all importations of zinc bearing ores the duties shall be estimated at the port of entry and a bond given in double the amount of the estimated duty for transporting the ore to sampling or smelting establishments where they shall be assayed by agents of the government and import duties liquidated by customs officers. Another amendment made by changing the date from January 1st, 1913 to March 1, 1913, from which incomes shall be computed for the income tax for the first year, provides that the excise corporation tax of one per cent shall be collected for the months of January and February, 1913. The income tax could not be assessed for these months because such tax did not become constitutional until February 25, 1913.

The cotton future stamp tax of one-tenth of a cent per pound is inserted in the bill as a special section and upon this tax it is expected the government will derive some revenue as its most sanguine supporters do not expect that the tax will entirely eliminate stock gambling in cotton futures.

MISS EMMA G. SCOTT TO WED MR. ROBERT JENNINGS

Daughter of Mr. Ezra Scott of This City Will Marry Y. M. C. A. Worker At Genekin, Kentucky.

The many friends of Miss Emma G. Scott, daughter of Mr. Ezra Scott of South Main street, will learn with interest of her engagement to Mr. Robert Jennings of South Carolina. Miss Scott has been teaching in the public schools of Bloomington since her graduation from the Woman's college. The Bloomington Bulletin of last night in speaking of the approaching marriage says:

"Friends in this city will be interested to know of the engagement of Miss Emma G. Scott, teacher of art in the local high school to Mr. Robert Jennings of Elizabeth City, South Carolina. Although Miss Scott's home is at Jacksonville, she has a host of friends in this city, with whom she is very popular. The wedding date has not been set as yet but is announced to be some time this winter.

"Miss Scott is the daughter of Mr. Ezra Scott of Jacksonville, a resident citizen of that place. She received her early schooling at that place and being devoted to art, graduated from the Illinois Woman's college at Jacksonville and later from the art institute at Chicago, returning for a year for post graduate work. She has proven herself to be an artist of no mean ability and her work has won favorable mention at several amateur exhibitions in this part of the country. For the first two years following her studies she taught at the Oak-kosh high school and the last two years she has been in charge of the art work of the public schools of this city. She presented her resignation to the board of education early this spring. She is a woman of charming disposition and won the favor of all who knew her.

"Mr. Jennings is the son of Mrs. F. Jennings of Elizabeth City, S. C. He is an industrious and model young man, having been directly connected with Y. M. C. A. work the past few years. Mr. Jennings just recently accepted a position as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Genekin, Kentucky, and following his graduation from the Y. M. C. A. summer school at Lake Geneva, he will enter upon his new duties."

MARTIN'S PERFECT CONTROL OF HYDRO-AEROPLANE SAVES HIS LIFE

Air Valve Drops From Carburetor But Aviator Volplanes to Safe Landing From Height of 700 Feet.

Muskegon, Mich., July 11.—Glenn Martin's steady move and perfect control of his hydro-aeroplane in a crash landing from the Chicago-Detroit cruise, probably saved his life late this afternoon when the machine developed carburetor trouble and he was forced to make a quick descent to Lake Michigan. Martin, with his passenger, Charles Day, was flying about 700 feet above the water when the air valve dropped from the carburetor. Martin volplaned to the surface of the lake, making a perfect landing about 2 1/2 miles from the shore. In a few minutes he succeeded in starting his engine again and reached the shore under his own power.

Martin declared his machine was not damaged and that he will resume his journey tomorrow morning. Beckwith Havens and Roy Francis, who reached Pentwater this afternoon will remain there during the night.

JOHN WANAMAKER IS 75.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11.—Receiving congratulations from friends in all parts of the country, John Wanamaker, the celebrated merchant and philanthropist, quietly observed his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary today. Mr. Wanamaker was born in Philadelphia and has passed the whole life here with the exception of a year that he spent in Indiana in early manhood and the several years when his position as Postmaster General necessitated his residence in Washington. Since his serious illness of a year or so ago the famous merchant has withdrawn to some extent from active participation in business affairs. Much of his attention is given to the Y. M. C. A. the Sunday schools and the numerous charities and philanthropies of which he has been a generous supporter for many years.

WANT JACKSONVILLEON PERMANENT TRAIL

Movement Under Way to Establish System of Good Roads Between St. Louis and Burlington, Ia.

The establishment of good roads through the country in a great measure has been brought about through the invention of the automobile. In the east, where the problem of good roads has been given more attention than in many western states, the public highways are so thickly traveled by autos that many of the places along the lines rival the towns situated on the steam roads. With the appropriations made by congress, the interest aroused by the various county commissioners and with the ocean to ocean lines, which are being laid out, Illinois gives promise of being one of the important states to advance the good roads idea. Dr. J. W. Hairgrove has been one of the local citizens who has been deeply interested in the good roads problem and believes that by a united effort much can be accomplished in this direction. H. C. Wilhite of Greenfield, who has been investigating conditions, has written to Dr. Hairgrove relative to the proposed system from St. Louis to Burlington, Ia. His letter in part reads as follows:

Canton, July 10, 1913.
Dr. J. W. Hairgrove, Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Doctor: Some time last year I believe you were interested in the establishment of a system of good roads between Jacksonville and St. Louis for auto traffic.

There is a movement now to lay out and establish a permanent trail between St. Louis and Burlington, Ia. The question now is, does Jacksonville want this trail to pass through its city. The road will be known as the "Burlington Way" and will pass through the following towns, if they show their hand: Granite City, Alton, Brighton and Medora over the now established "Alton Way." Leaving the Alton way at a point three miles north of Medora, passing through:

Rockbridge, Greenfield, White Hall, Berdan, Roodhouse, Jacksonville, Beardstown, Rushville, Murrayville, Virginia, Frederick, Littleton, La Harpe, Beardstown, Rushville, Macomb, Burlington.

The distance will be 176 miles. The road along this proposed trail is very well taken care of except places of four to six miles distance and with little effort things can be arranged to make this a very popular way.

Won't you see the proper party in Jacksonville and write me or have them write me if they are interested and I will be pleased to meet with the interested person this next week some evening. I believe there are many who are interested in good roads leading into Jacksonville. Have them address me at Greenfield. Yours truly,

H. C. Wilhite.

The summer is not half gone yet. Be comfortable in some of our thin underwear. Knoles.

YOUNGBLOOD PRAIRIE.

The wheat threshing in this neighborhood began this week with a better yield than expected. A twenty acre field of O. M. McLamar's threshed last Thursday averaged 23 bushels to the acre.

The park commissioners at Nortonville are having the town well dug deeper and improved. A concrete platform is being constructed to replace the old plank one over the well.

At a meeting of the citizens Tuesday it was decided to have the annual picnic of Nortonville on Wednesday, August 6. No pains will be spared to make the occasion an enjoyable one for everyone.

A straw stack on the farm of Allen McLamar caught fire Thursday from cinders and burned.

The three weeks old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Whitlock died Thursday and was buried in the Youngblood cemetery Friday.

Several from here attended the funeral of Benjamin Dugger at Nortonville Friday.

We fear that some of our nimrods are killing birds out of season and would advise them to look at the game laws and be sure they are right before going further.

A FAR CRY.

Greetings of a G. A. R. Man.

Mr. William H. Jordan, commander Matt Starr post, G. A. R., has received the following letter: Bozeman, Mont., June 17, 1913. Greetings of a former Jacksonville boy.

You will note by enclosure that we have one of the 101st which I believe was made up largely at your place. I have kind remembrances of Jacksonville and many whom I knew. I met Sol Smith Russell and others here whom I knew half a century ago.

William L. English was one of the men who took a commission in the regular army and was killed in the Nez Perce war. I wished to meet some of the 101st at the National Encampment in Washington in 1902.

J. E. Calloway, who left Jacksonville about the time I did (1860), was the presiding officer at the organization of our post 29 years ago. Suggested the name of Wm. English for our post.

Respectfully in F. C. & L., J. M. Lindley, K 1st Kan.

Mr. Lindley enclosed a letter head of the headquarters department of Montana G. A. R., Bozeman, Mont., which shows him as senior aide-camp and chief of staff, Joseph M. Lindley.

He also enclosed a clipping from a local paper, dated 1905, regarding joint installation of officers, which says: "The joint installation of the newly elected officers of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. took place at Maxwell's hall last Saturday evening, J. M. Lindley, senior past commander of Wm. English post, installed the new officers of the G. A. R."

Another clipping from the Bozeman Daily Chronicle of June 10, 1913, says:

"At the regular meeting of the Grand Army last Saturday evening, J. M. Lindley presided and an interesting program was given. Reports of the recent state encampment were given by Sam Codett, Mrs. McCollay and Judge W. Y. Smith. During the evening J. M. Lindley reviewed the company that it was the 29th anniversary of the organization of Wm. English post, and he gave them some account of English's career in the army."

Wm. L. English was the second son of Dr. W. English of Jacksonville and was graduated from Illinois college in the bright class of 1860. In that class in the war was Brev. Lt. Col. Frank Adams, Capt. John A. Ballard, Lieut. Wm. H. Edgar, Lieut. Elisha B. Hamilton and William L. English, Adj. 101st Ill. Vols. After the war, English came home and became a lawyer here, being elected city attorney. He married Miss Kate Murray, sister of Mrs. William Rockwell, and they had one son, who with his mother is still living.

In college Mr. English was a member of Phi Alpha society and one of the brightest of students, intellectually. He was an uncle of our present Mr. Henry W. English and a brother of the late Mrs. Jennie English Morris, so long connected with the city high school. Soon after his marriage Mr. English became a first lieutenant in the 15th U. S. Infantry and was killed at the battle of Little Big Hole, Montana, about the time of the Custer massacre.

Mr. Lindley added on the edge of one of the clippings:

"Lieutenant English and his young wife were living here, Ft. Ellis, three miles from Bozeman, when he lost his life at battle of Big Hole."

Mr. Lindley also added: "J. E. Calloway was one of the captains in that notable regiment (Grant's), 21st Ill."

I think Mrs. English and her son are now residents of Washington, D. C.

RUNAWAY HORSE DASHES

BUGGY INTO SAFE.

A horse belonging to J. M. Hurst of Hardin avenue took fright Friday afternoon while standing in front of R. W. Leggett's blacksmith shop on South Mauvaisterre street and ran away with results disastrous to its harness and to the buggy to which the horse was hitched. The frightened animal dashed into the curb in front of Jones' repair shop, demolishing the right front wheel, breaking the shafts and tearing up the harness. The horse then broke away but was soon caught. There was no one in the buggy when the horse took fright. Rev. H. F. Cusic was passing in his buggy at the time and had a narrow escape from a collision.

TOURISTS VISIT TOMBS IN NANKING, CHINA

Lavish Manner in Which Royalty Uses Resources of People Described—Mission Work of City Advancing.

(By S. W. Nichols).
Nanking, China.

Dear Journal:
Nanking is one of the oldest cities in the land and was founded in some shape two thousand years before the coming of Christ.

A great feature of the mission work in Nanking is the university, with 350 students and doing a wonderful line of work. It is the enterprise of three denominations, the Presbyterian, Methodist and the Disciples of Christ, all of whom have sensibly united in carrying on the work and are turning out a set of students who cannot fail to be of immense benefit to their native land. The same three denominations also have a theological seminary with over 200 students and this too is doing a work of great value. We had the pleasure of being with one of them for some time and from him gathered many facts of much interest. He said there was a great decline in the superstition of the people and the worship of Buddha was becoming less and less all the time. Intelligence was slowly permeating the people and they were becoming disgusted with the gods who can do nothing for them when they see the superior works of the Christian nations. Of course the improvement comes slowly and much will have to be done before the people come to a true knowledge of what will be for the best interests. He had studied the English language for seven years and was quite proficient in it and was fitting himself for a life of usefulness and emolument.

The Ming Tombs.

One of the great sights of this city is the Ming tombs, or rather, tomb, for the whole thing was in honor of the last Ming emperor, who died some five hundred years ago. The tomb is six or seven miles from the hotel and we had a fine example of Nanking financiering. I should have stated that the railroad station is not a part of the city, but the road makes its way several miles down and, at the station is a small village. We were informed a victoria would cost five dollars and a guide three. The vehicles are supposed theoretically to carry two persons, but they will easily seat four. A gentleman and wife were also at the hotel and were going to the tomb, so we arranged with them to divide the expense of the guide. We asked the landlord to put us up five lunches, expecting at first to have our own guide, but as we went in company with our esteemed friends, we told them to order but one lunch, as there would be enough for the guide with us. We came out as follows:

At the tomb we were requested to pay for two dinners for the drivers of the victorias, two in number.

The guide blandly informed my party that we owed him three dollars in addition to the three our friend had paid him. The only persons capable of being guides are the university students, who have studied English and though their services are hardly needed at all, as there is very little to do, still they have formed a combination and strictly adhere to it. Three dollars for three persons or less and a dollar each for all three, no matter how many. The saving clause to this is the fact that it goes to help the student get an education, but after employing men for ten cents a day and upward it went a bit against the grain to be held up in this manner.

The lunches were about the sorriest affairs of the kind we have had yet and we have had various experiments. There was a small loaf of bread, a few bits of cold meat, some salt and two bottles of water and about enough for four persons, but we divided it between the party and made it do, but when we came to settle our bill at the hotel a dollar extra was added on account of an alleged lunch put up for our guide, when the whole affair wasn't worth a dollar.

Finally when we came to settle for the victoria we were asked to pay six dollars, as we had four people in our rig. I find that the "Chinese" are ready for the main chance as everybody else.

Our ride to the tomb was quite interesting. The trip lay through the city and we observed that it was about like all other places in the land, except that the streets were wider and often capable of permitting horse vehicles to pass, though there were few to go that way. The day was rainy and the whole aspect of things was dreary and wretched. People went about with their feet shod with straw sandals and were open to the streets and elsewhere and all took in the appearance of misery and discomfort, though no doubt this appeared to us far more than to a native in the manner born.

On the way back a few miles from our destination we came across a number of little donkeys or burros, similar to those used in Colorado and all saddled and bridled, ready to be ridden. This was too much for the youthful member of our party, who had never ridden one of the little creatures and the victoria had no more attractions and from that time the donkey was called into requisition and the other ran behind and we made a fine cavalcade as far as we went and back to the donkey stand again.

The tombs is an evidence of the lavish manner in which royalty uses the resources of the people. When the emperor died his body was preserved and held for eight months while preparations were being made for its interment and the funeral ceremonies. Several hundred acres of rolling ground were taken and the route decided on through the grounds. On an eminence four arches in one structure were erected and inside under the whole is a huge stone turtle bearing on its back an upright stone shaft and containing on its side a list of the successful battles fought by his majesty. The route to the tomb was long and along it on each side of the way were erected huge stone effigies, elephants, camels, dogs, human beings and what not, all to celebrate the death and adorn the pathway to the tomb of the funeral procession.

Approaching the tomb three hills were encountered and on each is a grand hall with superb adornments within. The second had within ancestral tablets, though each of its glory had been removed by vandals and others. Approaching each hall is a double stone stairway with a sloping stone placed between and elaborately carved with beautiful figures. The last hall or temple, more properly, is the most elaborate and beautiful of all. There is a stone causeway between it and the second one and a stream runs between and over it is a fine stone bridge, which is an excellent piece of civil engineering. Ascending the hall are two elaborate flights of stone steps and between them is a sloping stone or stones, also most elaborately carved with beautiful designs. Within are grand ornaments, while on the sides of the building are sloping stone causeways, leading finally to the top of the building, from which a fine view of the whole surrounding country is obtained.

Back of the hall is a sacred or small mountain covered with trees, all of which are regarded as sacred also and must not be cut or interfered with in any way.

Along the edge of the hill is a stone wall keeping the earth from sliding down and is about ten or fifteen feet high. Somewhere in that slope, back of the wall, the body of the dead king is laid, but no one knows the exact spot and probably never will, as it is now a matter of little consequence. The Ming dynasty was overthrown anyway and the new republic cares little for royalty and so small attention is paid the whole affair. There are a few people about and some are care takers and to the shame of visitors the government has been obliged to close the hall containing the greatest amount of articles of interest, owing to the constant vandalism practiced.

There are a few people now to be seen on the hundreds of acres set aside for this funeral, occasionally a patch is cultivated, but the most of it is growing grass and no one seems to be getting any benefit from it. There are a few wretched hovels inhabited by people who seem to be about at the bottom of the scale and old and young proved the most persistent beggars, following us up and beseeching us for money. Finally they became so intolerable that one of the party told the guide to tell them that she would give them something if they would keep still the rest of the time we were there and let us alone, and they consented, but it was hard work.

We sat down at a table in one of the halls and ate our lunch, but we did not act of vandalism. I was fortunate in getting a tile from the roof of one of the halls, though it was not taken from anything; in places the whole roof has been removed on that part of the building. I can honestly say that while my little museum contains a few articles which I value highly, none of them have been secured by defacing any kind of a structure. As we turned to go home or to the hotel we were followed by the whole bevy of beggars, who dropped off one by one, though a few followed us up to the village where the donkeys were kept and there others joined us and followed us for a half mile or more, little fellows running by the side of the rig and begging all the way and I wondered if any others had educated them to do this, hoping at the last to get something. The manner in which the youngsters kept up for the long distance was really remarkable and showed that they had good wind to say the least.

A part of the land formerly pre-empted by the Ming dynasty for the funeral procession has been used for barracks for soldiers and the buildings are quite extensive, but are unoccupied at present. The Confucian temple and the Buddhist are interesting buildings and the former shows what a wonderful hold on the people the great man had who taught them so many centuries ago.

The temple to the ten thousand gods is a remarkable structure and is a series of low buildings, serving as a monastery and place of worship also, though as our guide remarked, the worship of Buddha is becoming less and less each year. The gods in this case are not so formidable as in some others and consist of little effigies about four inches high on small pedestals stuck on small pedestals and placed in glass covered cases, where they may be seen and consulted at any time desired.

There are in the monastery some 75 monks, but they are not very austere looking and it is said that their numbers are recruited from the undesirable classes in many cases. Their lives are somewhat austere and they are obligated to silence as far as possible and especially is this the rule enforced at the table, where they must not say a word. Their diet must be strictly vegetarian and they are obliged to be very good, according to their rules. At present the monastery is occupied by a lot of soldiers, who share with the monks the home which the former have held so long and they took rather out of place among the pious men, but they are in the saddle.

In a handsome case was the image of the goddess Amida, or the deity of many arms, of which she had twenty and all were handsomely gilt, making her shine in fine shape and look decidedly showy.

Another fine building in this city is the one devoted to the exposition which was held here several years ago. The structure is well made and will stand for a long time. There is a gate leading to the grounds and passing through a great wall and is called the gate of fertility.

There is considerable business done at and near the station in the

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Should Profit by Mrs. Hurley's Experience—Her Own Story Here Told.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, organic inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased once a month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world."

"After I had tried most every female remedy first, without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

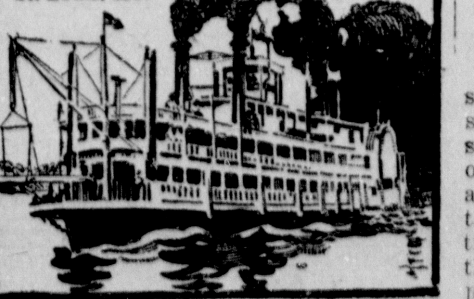

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bending down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

QUIET PREVAILS IN LARGER LINES OF TRADE

COMMERCIAL TENDENCIES MAINLY IN DIRECTION OF IMPROVEMENT.

Brilliant Weather, Holiday Demands, Plus Clearance Sales, Have Greatly Stimulated Retail Distribution.

New York, July 11.—Bradstreet's statement of trade tomorrow will say:

Seasonable quiet prevails in the larger lines of trade and salesmen are off the road for vacations. On the other hand, brilliant weather and holiday demands, plus clearance sales, have greatly stimulated retail distribution. What probably is more significant is the fact that sentiment as to the future appears to be more encouraging. There is less timidity and the major note is one of conservative optimism. Buyers are beginning to appear in the various wholesale markets and it is apparent that more business has been done especially in drygoods and shoes, on future account than was earlier apparent. Next week should produce additional impetus.

As yet the west, northwest and southwest reflect greatest activity in future operations and in those sections buyers have taken hold in a large way, the result being that in various lines trade exceeds that of last year. There is less apprehension regarding tariff matters and it is felt that many effects of tariff changes will be postponed until well in next year.

Business failures for the week ending July 10 were 210, which compares with 252 in the like week of 1912.

Dun's Review of Trade.

While business generally reflects the quietness usual at this period, commercial tendencies are mainly in the direction of improvement and confidence in the futures has strengthened. In the final, sentiment was affected somewhat by the failures in the Pittsburgh district, the resumption of gold exports and the threatened railway strike, yet security values were well maintained in view of these developments. Consumption of drygoods is sustained and there is no accumulation of stocks but new business is limited to well defined needs. In the iron and steel industry two features stand out prominently, namely, the fact that curtailment of pig-iron output during June was less than anticipated and that the opinion is general that the current lull in demand will be followed by a revival of activity in the fall.

BIDS WANTED.

The city will receive bids for an electric generator and engine, to comply with the following specifications: 200 K. W. 3 Phase, 60 cycle, revolving field, 2,300 volts, 200 R. PM. direct connected, 16x24 inches, 4 valve engine.

Bids are asked on used equipment and must be filed in this office by 10 a. m., Wednesday, July 9th. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

C. R. Knollenberg, Commissioner of Accounts and Finance.

SUPERINTENDENT 60 YEARS.

Easton, Pa., can claim a school superintendent whose term of service surpasses anything here or abroad, so far as is known. Sixty years in one profession is in itself, remarkable enough, but when it is added that Superintendent William W. Cottingham's record is of sixty years in the same position, his position appears to be unparalleled.

BANK CLEARINGS.

FINAL SPECIAL TAX NOTICE.

In the matter of the special tax of the city of Jacksonville for the construction of a vitrified pipe sewer on Dunlap street.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that the Board of Local Improvements of said city has heretofore filed in the county court of Morgan county, Illinois, in said cause, a certificate showing the most of the work, the amount reserved for interest, and also that the improvement has been constructed in substantial conformity to the requirements of the original ordinance therefor.

The hearing to consider and determine whether or not the facts as stated in said certificate are true, will be held in said court on the 24th day of July A. D. 1913, at 9 o'clock or as soon thereafter as the business of the court will permit.

All persons desiring may file objections in said court before said day and may appear on the hearing and make their defense.

By E. M. Henderson, Secretary.

Board of Local Improvements of the City of Jacksonville, Ill.
 Dated Jacksonville, Ill., June 9, 1913.

TIME TO SEED ALFALFA.

Begin Preparation For Crop Now—See Bed and How to Sow.

In Illinois, alfalfa is best seeded in July or August, but before seeding the seed bed should be persistently worked, and thoroughly prepared. If the soil is acid or sour, it should be sweetened through the application of all slacked lime or finely ground limestone. If the field is well worn a liberal dressing of manure will act as an insurance against probable failure. Disk the surface of the unplowed land, after dressing with manure, until a mulch of loose soil is on the surface. Plow now to a depth of six inches or deeper, and immediately disk and harrow and drag until you have a seed bed fit to sow onion seed in. Now apply your lime or limestone and again harrow. This should provide an environment for alfalfa seed which with one addition, will not only supply the factors necessary for germination but for rapid growth and development as well.

Don't Neglect Inoculation.

The remaining requisite, at least on most soils of the state, is inoculating with the nitrogen gathering bacteria that use the alfalfa as a host plant. This may be applied when the seed is being sown, if you use a drill for sowing, or it may be applied broadcast either immediately before, or immediately after the sowing. In either instance when sowed broadcast it should be harrowed in at once. To secure the inoculating bacteria, take the surface soil from an established alfalfa field or from under thrifty sweet clover plants and scatter this soil over the field, remember, however, to harrow immediately after sowing the inoculating soil. It would be well also to use the glue method of inoculating the seed.

How to Seed.

In seeding alfalfa, sow either with a drill or broadcast, from 15 to 20 pounds of seed per acre. If the seed is tested, and germinates strongly, a less quantity may be sown, especially when the drill is used. Seeding should place the seed not over one and one-half inches below the surface of the ground unless the soil and season is very dry. After the alfalfa appears and covers the ground the next step is to see that it is not choked out by crabgrass, foxtail, smart weed and other undesirable growth. If these bother, and grow faster than the alfalfa go into the field with a mower and clip everything repeatedly. If sown during the summer, there is little danger of these weeds interfering seriously. Leave a good growth for protection through the winter. Early in the spring you will be surprised and delighted with the early, vigorous growth made by this plant.

If you have no alfalfa on your farm sow some within the next two months, if you now have a small area, increase the acreage. Don't let anything prevent you from having some of this wonderfully productive forage, whose feeding value, ton for ton, is practically that of wheat bran.—H. A. McKeene, Secretary, Illinois Farmers' Institute.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengle, Plainfield, N. The will of Mary M. Newton, one of the wealthy women of Batavia was filed for probate. The executor was instructed to erect a $10,000 monument to the soldier who enlisted at Batavia in the civil war. The name of each man enlisting at Batavia is to be inscribed.

School Cost.

That the cost of educating the young of Springfield at the public schools has increased nearly 100 per cent in the past ten years was shown when Superintendent J. H. Collins issued the annual financial statement. Ten years ago the cost per pupil was $22.04, while the past year the cost of schools per student was $49.00. Last year's increase was $1.50 over that of 1912. The increase for the past decade is $17.96 which amounts to $1 per cent.

New Watchmen at State Treasury.

Three new watchmen for the state treasurer's office were appointed. One of them is William Negen, former chief of police of Belleville, who succeeds Captain Albert Arenz of Jacksonville. Another is John McClain of Springfield, who succeeds Walter S. Rundle of Colchester. The third is Christ Weiss of Chicago, who takes the place made vacant by the resignation of E. C. Clements of Chicago, who was one of State Treasurer Ryan's appointees.

Try to Poison Farm in Jersey.

Bitterness among farmers because they did not get the farm purchased by Daniel Boomer at an auction sale near Jerseyville is believed to have been the cause of an attempt to poison all the vegetation on the farm recently. Shortly after moving on the farm Boomer found a black fluid oozing from several trees and upon investigation found that practically all of his trees had been treated in the same manner. The attempt to "kill" the farm was reported by John Boomer, brother of Daniel, and he will have an analysis of the fluid made, besides laying the matter before the state's attorney.

Mrs. Vredenburg Granted Divorce.

An echo of the backfire from the senate vice investigation in the state of Illinois, was heard in the Sangamon circuit court-house when Mrs. Luyte Pease Vredenburg was granted an absolute decree for divorce from her husband, Thomas D. Vredenburg, Sr., on the ground of infidelity. Mrs. Vredenburg was given the custody of the two children, Warren Ogden, aged 13 years, and Thomas, Jr., aged 11 years. For the support of herself and children she was awarded $4,000 annually; $1,800 for herself and $1,100 for each of the children, to be paid in monthly installments. In addition it was provided in the decree that at the death of Thomas D. Vredenburg, Sr., Mrs. Vredenburg shall receive $20,000.

Causes of Stomach Troubles.

MURDER CASES SIMILAR IN MANY DETAILS.

Investigation of Los Angeles Case May Throw Light on Killing of Joseph Logue in Chicago.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—More than two weeks have passed since Charles E. Pendell, a wealthy money lender, was found murdered in his office in this city, and the case remains as much of a mystery as it was on the day the mutilated body was discovered. Of one thing, however, the police are thoroughly convinced. They believe that when the person or persons who killed Pendell are found, then the long sought murderers of Joseph Logue in Chicago will be found. Seldoms have two crimes committed at points so far apart offered such a case of similarity in every important detail. That the two murders were committed by the same hand appears certain to those who have studied the two cases.

The murder of Joseph H. Logue occurred in Chicago on December 29 last. Logue was a money lender as was Pendell, the Los Angeles victim. Both also dealt in diamonds and jewelry. Both murders were committed in the offices of their victims. Both were committed in the middle of the day, Logue being killed at about the hour of noon and Pendell at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. In each case the last person seen to enter the office was a well dressed woman. Robbery is supposed to have furnished the motive in each case, though strangely enough the nature and amount of the booty have never been definitely determined either in the Logue or Pendell case.

Both victims were known to be in the habit of carrying considerable sums of money and large amounts of jewelry. The brutality of the murderer was evidenced in each case, both of the victims being shot, slashed and beaten. The detectives are positive that the two murders were committed by the same skilled professional criminals—a man and a woman. But in neither case did there appear the slightest clue that might lead to the identity of the pair. The murderer or murderers committed their crimes so skillfully and so quietly that persons in adjoining offices heard no sound.

ALBERTA LABOR FEDERATION.

Medicine Hat, Alta., July 11.—The first annual convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor was called to order in this city at 10 o'clock this morning by President J. C. Jones of Calgary. The roll call by Secretary L. T. English showed a large and representative attendance.

A wide variety of topics of importance to labor organizations and the working classes in general are to be considered during the several days that the convention will be in session. Among the matters that will receive attention are the minimum wage and universal eight hour laws, cooperation of farmers and wage-earners, the sanitation of work shops, the importation of foreign labor, the repeal or amendment of the present compensation law, and the protection of woman and child labor.

WANT BETTER RAIL RATES.

Pensacola, Fla., July 11.—A proposal to divert the shipments of cotton seed and its products throughout nearly the whole of Alabama from the railroads to the water routes was discussed here today at the opening session of the ninth annual convention of the Alabama Cotton Seed Crushers' association. The sentiment of the convention was that it would be advisable to select the water routes for the movement of the business this year unless satisfactory rates and regulations were announced by the railroads before the crop began to move.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear The Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a joy and comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a most grateful, penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is therefore one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress can not be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, pre-natal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; thousands of whom have used and recommend it. You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write today to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 120 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most instructive book on this greatest of all subjects, motherhood.

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

SEVERE ITCHING AND BURNING

Eczema Began With Pimples on Lower Limbs. Constantly Tortured, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Ten Days.

203 Walnut St., Hillsboro, Ill.—"My child had a breaking out on the lower limbs which developed into eczema. The eczema began with pimples which contained yellow corruption and from the child's clothing they were greatly irritated. They seemed to burn, which made the child scratch them, resulting in a mass of open places. They made her so cross and fretful that it was impossible to keep her quiet. They caused her to lose much sleep and she was constantly tormented by severe itching and burning."

"I tried several well-known remedies, but got no relief until I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which did so much good that I got a large quantity that cured her in ten days after she had been affected for two months." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Schwartz, Feb. 28, 1913.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent dry, thin and falling hair, allay itching and irritation, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, frequent shampoos with Cuticura Soap, assisted by occasional dressings with Cuticura Ointment, are usually effective when other methods fail. Sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

NEW YORK POUNDS SOX TWIRLERS WITH EASE

SECURE SEVENTEEN BINGLES
AND WIN 11 TO 1.

Buck O'Brien Made His Debut in a Chicago Uniform But Had to Retire in Favor of White. "Doc" is Also Pounded at Will and Game Was Finished by Smith.

Chicago, July 11.—New York played a slugging game today and defeated Chicago 11 to 1. Buck O'Brien, the former Boston twirler, made his debut in a Chicago uniform and was hit so hard that he had to retire in favor of White. With White pitching, the game became a farce, the visitors scoring seven runs before a man was retired.

C. Smith then held New York down until the end of the game. New York, A. B. R. H. O. A. E.

GIANTS GIVE CHICAGO FIERCE TROUNCING, WINNING 14 TO 4

New York Hits Lavender, Pierce and Richie For 22 Hits and Draws Seven Passes.

New York, July 11.—The New Yorks overwhelmed their old rivals the Chicago Cubs, at the Polo grounds today, 14 to 4. The locals hit Lavender, Pierce and Richie for 22 hits and drew seven passes. Including hits, passes and errors, 32 New Yorkers reached first base. Chicago started with a four run lead but soon fell to pieces after Manager Evers was ordered from the field in the third inning for disputing one of Umpire Byron's decisions. Score:

GRAND CIRCUIT MEETING CLOSES

EULABELL, AN OUTSIDER, WINS TAVERN STEAK.

Jean Arion Captures 2:09 Trot from Evecord, Driven by Geers—Anvil Trots Two Fastest Miles of the Year, Taking the 2:19 Trot.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 11.—The first Grand Circuit meeting of the year came to a close at North Randall track today with four trotting events that brought out a fine quality of sport. The Tavern Steak, conceded to Dago F., because of his form in the preliminaries on Monday was won by Eulabell, an outsider.

The 2:09 trot was won by Jean Arion, who had found little backing even for place, although Evecord, driven by Geers, was expected to win it with ease. The championship trotting sweepstakes went to Anvil a heavy favorite, because he trotted the two fastest miles of the year and the last event of the day, the 2:19 trot, Star Winter, the first choice in the betting had little difficulty in performing up to the form expected of him. THE WEED PROBLEM AND ITS SOLUTION

WEEDS MUST BE CONSIDERED A NEGATIVE FACTOR IN CROP PRODUCTION.

Weeds are Divided Into Three Groups—Annuals, Biennials and Perennials—Good Early Cultivation is Most Effective Blow in Weed Eradication.

(By Leonard Hegnauer, Professor of Crop Production.)

One of the great blots upon modern agriculture is the prevalence, everywhere, of so many weeds. Their abundance is due to the great number of weed species and the enormous number of individuals belonging to each of these. They are found almost everywhere—in field, pasture, meadow, roadside and waste ground; each particular place having its own peculiar weed growth, depending upon the kind of crop or treatment that the land has received. Year by year they are apparently on the increase. While the number of individuals may not necessarily, in all cases, be getting greater, yet it is entirely safe to assume that the species are constantly receiving a wider and wider distribution. It can be readily shown that weeds tend to decrease materially our crop yields, and therefore we must consider them a negative factor in crop production. It is not only possible to convince farmers that one of our most prolific sources of crop loss is the presence of weeds, we might be able to make a vigorous war of extermination. Were we able to state these losses in terms of money, we might be able to make a greater impression. The losses are not only measured by the decrease in the harvest, but also by the inferior quality of the crop.

While we are not making as much progress along the line of handling the weed problem as we wish we might, yet there are many reasons which lead us to think that we are not getting further from the goal. Land value are constantly going higher and the acres of production are becoming more limited. Farms are being made smaller and people are becoming more numerous. All of these things tend towards a more intensive agriculture. With a more intensive system of cropping, weeds become more embarrassing and must, therefore, be kept under subjection. In some countries where farms are extremely small and therefore cultivated intensively the weed problem is unknown. Even in this country there are places where this is true.

In order to make any material progress toward the solution of this problem we need to know all we can about the different kinds of weeds, how they are distributed, what their life history may be, and at what point in the life of the plant a blow will be most effective. To do this one needs to study the plant with reference to its growth and distribution.

We may, perhaps, for study, divide weeds into three groups—annuals, biennials, and perennials. Upon these life periods depends largely the place where these plants are found. In well cultivated fields, we should not be able to find any weeds. However, if any are found, they ought in the main, to belong to the class of annuals. These would probably appear there because they are able to complete their life cycle in a single season. With the exception of a few which germinate and begin growing in the late summer of early fall and then continue their growth next season, the great bulk of annuals do not begin to germinate until spring. We are quite apt to meet weeds of this class during the preparation of the seed bed for an early crop. Any treatment which will allow them enough time to produce seed, during that season will make it possible for them to escape.

The second class of weeds, known as the biennials, are those which require two years in order to complete their life cycle. These plants grow from seed one year, produce a plant of some size and at the same time build up a strong root system, in many cases storing up a large quantity of material. Many of them show a greatly enlarged tap-root. After having completed this, the plant dies down to the ground at the close of the season, but retains its vitality in the portions below the surface of the ground. In the following spring it renews its activities and throws out new shoots from its crown.

Its object now, in its second year, is to produce seed. To do this it draws heavily upon the store of food material enclosed within the root. After the seed is produced, it starts anew upon the cycle of its development.

The third class, or perennials, are those which require more than two years to complete their life history. Many of these produce seed, while some resort to other means of perpetuating the species. In some we find that they are only able to reproduce themselves by means of underground root-stocks. These root-stocks are underground stems, thrown off more or less horizontally from the parent plant. A plant employing simply the method of increasing by means of the underground stem is usually somewhat limited as to the rapidity and extent of its distribution. What is lacking, however, in this respect is amply made good by the certainty of its growing.

In order to strike a most effective blow in weed eradication, it would be necessary to give good thorough cultivation early in the season. It is assumed now that there are many weeds present in the soil and they will do no harm. In order to do this we must cause them to germinate as quickly as possible and then destroy the seedlings. Styring induces germination and later tillage will kill the plants. The kind of work appearing the seed bed, is especially valuable in weed extermination. Such work as this is good treatment for all weeds regardless of their life history. If any sowing escape, as they always do, then subsequent treatment will depend largely upon the nature of the plant. Careful work in seeing that distribution is kept down is beyond question the most fertile source for reducing the number of weeds.

KERNELS FROM THE CORNBELT.

(By Sol E. Quizer).

There are folks that seem just like alfalfa—get greener every time they're trimmed.

Some men feel about fertilizing the way the boy feels about washing his ears—its the last resort.

Funny, isn't it, that the same man that nearly dies of impatience when he has to wait for a street car, can sit on an empty bread box outside the grocery all day waiting for opportunity?

CORN ALONE IS NOT A SATISFACTORY RATION

DOES NOT CONTAIN ENOUGH PROTEIN FOR GROWING PIGS.

Experiments Show that the Development of Pigs Fed on Corn Alone was Hindered to Some Extent and that Their Organs were Smaller Than Those of Pigs Fed on More Suitable Rations.

(By Sleetor Bull, Assistant in Animal Nutrition.)

Corn is the cheapest and most plentiful feed available to the corn belt farmer. As a feed for fattening it has no superiors and few equals. Corn is the most valued feed of the stockman. Yet with all good things which can be said about corn, there is at least one use for which it is unfit. Corn and corn alone, does not make a satisfactory ration for growing pigs.

We all know that a certain amount of protein is absolutely necessary for the life of any animal. If we feed an animal upon a ration entirely free from protein it will starve to death in a comparatively short time. The growing animal requires a larger amount of protein than the mature one in order to supply the growth of the muscular tissue which consists almost entirely of protein.

Proteins are composed of certain combinations of substances known to the chemist as "amino acids." These amino acids may be compared to the bricks used in building a house. Just as different kinds of houses may be built by using different kinds of bricks, so also may different kinds of protein be formed into different amino acids. Certain of these amino acids are essential to life and are contained by practically all proteins. Also certain of them are essential for growth. Not all proteins contain these. The principal protein of the corn, which the chemist has named "zein," is one of these proteins that does not contain all the amino acids necessary for growth. Thus corn if fed alone to a growing animal does not satisfy the animal's protein requirement.

In addition to the proper kind of protein the growing animal requires also mineral matter or ash which is used in the formation of new bone and muscle. Corn is deficient also in mineral matter. Consequently a ration of corn alone does not satisfy the demands of the growing animal for mineral matter.

Horses, cattle and sheep always receive, together with corn, a certain amount of roughage which, especially if it be clover, alfalfa or blue grass, usually furnishes other proteins which contain the amino acids that corn protein does not contain, and also ash or mineral matter in which corn is deficient. Thus the requirements of these animals are met. However, young growing pigs are often kept upon a ration of corn alone or upon a ration of corn and some other feed which does not contain enough of the proper sort of protein to make up the deficiency of the corn protein. Or the ration may be deficient in mineral matter, resulting in either case in an unsatisfactory development of the pig.

nese cities we have visited. At least a part of the streets were a trifle wider and not so filthy and the shops were a bit more respectable, but that was only a part, for after a while the same characteristics showed up, only they were not as bad as Amoy, which so far holds the record for filth and evil smells.

We followed on in the direction given us, but each time the crooked street turned no garden appeared and it was high time. Every one we accosted was unable to answer us in English and we were at a loss, but finally we found a merchant who understood us and he took a piece of paper and wrote on it some horrid characters which we supposed to mean something and told us show that to any one and we would find the garden.

On and on we went, showing our card to different persons and they always motioned us along a little farther till at last after following our noses for miles as it seemed we were motioned to retrace our steps, as we had gone too far and so we decided to call it a bad scent and give it up, much as we would have enjoyed seeing the desired spot. The next thing was to get back and soon a mob of jingjishia men gathered about us and wanted to take us anywhere we wanted to go. We told them as well as we could and they were certain they understood us so when mounted four of the little vehicles and started off and pulled up against an electric light plant office. The man there gave us some more directions and soon we were on the river front and sailing along at a rapid gait, when all at once our men stopped and it seemed they could go no farther as their licenses forbade it. Other fellows thought they had us, but we paid the first ones and started on foot and after walking a distance finished up with a street car.

We saw a funeral procession with a body carried by six coolies. The widow was borne in a chair decorated finely and along were men beating gongs. They halted at the wharf and the widow arrayed in white descended and boarded a houseboat and has been found that growing pigs fed on corn alone not only made poor, uneconomical gains, but, in most cases, the normal development of the animal was hindered to a greater or less extent. Pigs fed on corn had less blood, and their livers, kidneys and other organs were smaller than those of pigs fed on more suitable rations. Further, the corn-fed animals had lighter bones, which were more easily broken. In extreme cases there was no growth whatever, the animals went off feed, became drowsy, stiff in the hind quarters and finally died. In actual practice corn-fed pigs do not often develop such marked symptoms unless kept in a paved or floored pen, as they will obtain considerable mineral matter, roots, etc., from rooting in the dirt floors of their pens.

Young hogs should receive a proper amount of some other feed as tankage, bloodmeal, middlings, oil meal, milk and clover, alfalfa, or blue grass pasture. In addition to corn and alfalfa should also have free access to such substances as rock phosphate, charcoal or wood ashes in order to supply any deficiency in the mineral matter of their ration.

IN REGARD TO SILOS

AND DAIRY RATINGS.
Question: Is it feasible to build a silo in the center of a round barn? I want an elevated tank to supply my house and farm buildings with water and would like to ask if it is safe to put this on top of a 40-foot silo about 14 feet in diameter.

Answer: I think it is entirely feasible to build a silo in the center of a round barn and if you want a water tank on this I would certainly build it of concrete. We are just completing a round barn 70 feet in diameter and have a silo on the inside built of solid concrete 16 feet in diameter and about 60 feet high.

Question: I have sorghum and corn fodder for cow feed; what shall I feed with it to make a balanced ration?

Answer: There are several points that should be well in mind when one considers the making of a ration for a dairy cow. Three of these considerations should be the size of the dairy cow, the amount of milk being given, and the butter fat content of the milk. A ration which would be satisfactory for a Holstein cow would not work to the best advantage if fed to a Jersey. I am suggesting two possible rations which might be used, each one approximately meeting the requirements of a 1000-pound cow, giving 20 pounds of four per cent milk; 16 pounds of corn fodder, sorghum and alfalfa, 10 pounds of grain, consisting of 7 parts corn and 3 parts cotton seed meal and part wheat bran. One pound of the above grain mixture should be fed for each 2 pounds of milk being produced.

Another ration which might be used could consist of sorghum and alfalfa, 10 pounds of corn fodder, 10 pounds of alfalfa, or clover hay and corn and cob meal fed at the rate of one pound to each three pounds of milk being produced. Unless the sorghum is in good condition one should be careful in the feeding of it in large amounts as moist sorghum has an unfavorable effect on the digestive system of an animal receiving it. In case you wish to vary the feeds, the rations mentioned will give you a basis upon which to work.

It was the most singular funeral music I ever heard. The widow seemed much distressed though she shed no tears. She and a companion, also with small feet so she had to be helped, went on board the boat and were left there by their friends and what the destination was we were unable to learn.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF FENCES AND FENCING

EXPENSE OF FENCING ONE OF THE FARMER'S HEAVIEST CHARGES.

Fencing Has Presented Some Special Problems in the Prairie Regions of This State—Brief Sketch of the History of Fencing in Illinois.

Article I.
(By John G. Thompson, Department of Economics, University of Ill.)

The expense of fencing has been and continues to be, in a measure, one of the farmer's heaviest charges. Under the peculiar conditions, too, that have existed in the prairie regions of Illinois, fencing has presented some special problems, the solution of which led to developments of the utmost importance with reference to fencing in general. It may be both interesting and instructive, therefore, briefly to sketch the history of fencing within the state.

During the French period, as also for a very considerable period under the American occupation, the practice was to fence the cultivated land in rather than to confine the live stock within enclosures. As the cultivated land among the French was held, in a manner, in common and laid out in very long, narrow strips, there was little or no occasion or opportunity for "line" fences. The problem of fencing among the French in Illinois, therefore, consisted in running an outside barrier around the common field which comprised the arable holdings of many farmers—thus forming a single large enclosure of this cultivated land of the village. To the original construction and subsequent repair of this common fence each farmer was expected to contribute in proportion to the land which he held. On the other hand, the live stock was ranged freely and indiscriminately over the open tract granted to the village for pasture and fuel. The common worm rail fence was used among the French for field purposes, though "palisades" are also mentioned, and they are said to have made use of split palings around their houses.

The first stage of the American occupation and settlement in Illinois presents no features as to fencing that differ materially from those characterizing the hundreds of other frontier sections in the United States. The wooded districts of the state were first occupied and the ordinary rail fence appeared as a matter of course. Even when the edges of the prairie began to be occupied this familiar style of fence continued to be the chief dependence, since a certain amount of forest land was selected in connection with the prairie in order to provide for a supply of water, and of wood for fuel, lumber, etc. About 1840, however, when settlers began to push out beyond the border of the prairie and when the necessity arose, too, for the renewal of the rail fences originally constructed, the question of fencing in Illinois became acute. There was no more important question than the rows. Also, sowing soybeans to be cut for hay before the pods ripen has been practiced successfully. At the Illinois experiment station the dairy department has found that soybean meal is practically equal in feeding value to oil meal, when used in the dairy ration.

prairie farmer had to face; and the growth of the state in numbers and material interests, and some of the most vital features of organized society, were seen to depend on its proper solution. Out of this situation arose two lines of development, both of which have extended down almost to the present. One of these developments was the change from the system of allowing live stock to run at large, to a system of enclosure for the same. The other consisted in a remarkable series of experiments with every conceivable kind of fence in order to devise, if possible, a successful fence for the prairie. We shall treat of the latter feature in another article.

At first no one questioned seriously the well nigh universal practice of allowing farm animals to run at large. But about 1840, as above indicated, the expediency of longer permitting this practice began to be generally agitated, and from that time forward the question was discussed pro and con almost continuously. Adjoining states were experiencing a similar agitation in their prairie sections and the old point of view was well expressed by a Missouri man in 1845 when he declared: "Nothing ruffles our feelings so soon as to see a neighbor's cattle, horses and hogs ill treated by the owners of fields, who are too lazy to make strong fences." It was urged further in favor of continuing to permit stock to run at large that they would not thrive if their range were restricted—that it was impossible to fence all the stock in—that there was already too much ground under plow as there were hands to till well—that mixed husbandry could not prevail if fences were dispensed with—that the grain from the stubble would be lost—and one man, who was willing to see swine enclosed, declared that it would be wrong to enclose cattle, horses and sheep, as these animals required large pastures and these the Creator had furnished in Illinois in such profusion. Those who argue for the enclosure of stock, approaching the question rather from the grain grower's point of view, emphasized the great expense of fencing, the cessation of losses by stock straying, the view that the farmer could improve his pasture if enclosed, that the settlement of the prairie would be hastened, and most of all, that in accordance with the spirit of the common law the owner of stock should be responsible for their restraint and that no man should be compelled to fence against another man's stock. Gradually the occupation of the prairie and its subjection to cultivation—facilitated of course by the invention and introduction of improved machinery—told in favor of the confinement of stock. At an early date a legislature that had dared to pass a law preventing bulls running at large, with the idea of making possible improved breeds of stock, had been promptly rebuked by the voters and the following legislature had repealed the obnoxious law. But now in various ways stock began to be enclosed. In some places the object was accomplished by common consent and agreement—the restriction being first applied to hogs, then to sheep, and finally to other farm animals. The state then intervened. The township organization law of 1851 granted to the electors at town meetings the right to determine in counties with township organization, the time and manner in which all ordinary farm animals should be permitted to go at large. The running at large of sheep and swine was absolutely prohibited in certain counties in 1853, and local option with reference to the matter was extended to other counties. In 1857 county

THIRD ARTICLE ON FEEDING THE FAMILY

FOOD MATERIALS VARY GREATLY IN PROPORTION OF NUTRIENTS CONTAINED.

Garden Vegetables Add Bulk to the Diet—Potatoes are the Staple Starchy Food, but Cereal Grains are Also Rich in Starches—Nuts Rich in Fats.

(By N. E. Goldthwaite, Assistant Professor of Household Science.)

The majority of food materials from plant sources contain all three of the nutrients, but in varying proportions. The cereal grains and the food products derived therefrom are especially rich in starches; they also contain considerable quantities of proteins. Dried pears and dried beans may be classed with cereal grains in these respects. The starch content of potatoes is so high that they are staple starchy food.

Nuts are rich in all three nutrients, but especially so in fats. When eaten, nuts should be thoroughly masticated.

Garden vegetables in general contain small percentages of each of the three nutrients, but they are especially valuable in the diet because of their soft cellulose framework which adds bulk to the diet. On account of the very concentrated character of our foods and their consequent constipating tendency, anything which can add bulk to the diet without diminishing its palatability, is much to be desired, much through accelerating the peristaltic action of the intestinal canal. Two noted exceptions to the general rule that foods from plant sources contain all three nutrients, are sugar, which is 100 per cent carbohydrate, and olive oil, 100 per cent fat.

Milk, a typical animal product, averages 3.3 per cent protein, 4 per cent fat and 5 per cent carbohydrate (milk sugar). But the food content of milk products vary widely from these percentages—e. g., butter is about 1 per cent protein and 85 per cent fat, with no carbohydrate; ordinary cheese about 27 per cent protein, 36 per cent fat, and 4 per cent carbohydrate; cottage cheese, 21 per cent protein, 1 per cent fat, and 4 per cent carbohydrate. Note that these milk products contain relatively little of the original milk sugar—that has remained in the whey which has been fed to the pigs.

Eggs, another typical animal product, contain about 13 per cent protein and 10 per cent fat, but no carbohydrate. Meats, likewise, contain no carbohydrate, but are rich in protein, 12 per cent to 20 per cent, while their fat content is a more or less variable quantity, depending upon the cut, the condition of the animal, etc.

and precinct option were granted to a number of other counties with reference to all ordinary kinds of live stock and in 1872 the option basis was changed in certain counties by making the running at large of all ordinary kinds of live stock unlawful, but permitting such practice locally after popular vote in its favor. Not until 1891 were domestic animals in general unconditionally prohibited from running at large within the limits of any incorporated place; and finally, in 1895, a law was passed unconditionally prohibiting their running at large anywhere within the state.

NEW YORK OF CHINA IS REACHED

(By S. W. Nichols)

The average Chinaman lives on a meager diet. South of the great Yellow river rice is the chief article of food, unless that is too much of a luxury, when sweet potatoes take its place in some localities. North of the river rice is more of a luxury and is eaten economically by the wealthy, the rest eating wheat, millet and some other articles. Beans such as I saw extensively in Syria, are also a common article of food and are ground and made into corn, which is not especially pleasant to the taste, but is quite nourishing. A few vegetables are mixed with the meal, but meat is well high unknown except about twice a month among the poorer classes.

At meal time the rice is distributed in bowls to each member of the family and all else in placed in one common dish, from which all help themselves. Each has a pair of chop sticks, which are simply two sticks about eight inches long and the size of a lead pencil and they become very expert in handling them. The rice is simply shoveled into the mouth, the bowl being held close to the lips and a queer, gurgling sound is made. They never drink cold water, but always boil it and take it hot and always add a little tea, which is a general beverage and is offered on all occasions to friends, callers, customers and the like. It is always drunk without milk or sugar and a benevolent person of wealth will set at this door a large vessel of tea for the use of poor people passing by.

There are no ancient buildings in China, as the structures generally erected have been especially substantial and not cared for. There are a good many pagodas, but they are generally dilapidated. The only things with a vestige of antiquity are the great wall, the one about Nanking, 30 miles in extent, and the one around Peking, 33 miles in

THE WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

FRIDAY DULLEST IN YEARS IN STOCKS

TOTAL TRANSACTIONS ONLY 61,400 SHARES.

Smallest Amount Traded in Any Full Day Since May 27, 1896—Operators Spend Day Waiting For Something to Happen.

(By Associated Press)
New York, July 11.—It is necessary to go back over a long stretch of years to find another day as dull as today in the stock market. The total of transactions was 64,400 shares, the smallest amount traded in on any full day since May 27, 1896.

Stock market operators spent the day in waiting for something to happen. Apparently the forces which have been determining the course of speculation and price movements have spent themselves, leaving the market at a standstill. With tariff and currency legislation the possibility of a strike on the eastern railroads and the Balkan war hanging over the market, speculators are not inclined to take on new lines for either account and as the day was barren of news upon which to base operations, trading came almost to a halt.

The drift of prices was downward but bear traders made no attempt to press their advantage and in most cases losses were limited to fractions. Southern Pacific sold off more easily than the rest of the list. New York Central sold early in the day at 95½, a new low record for the year, and Chesapeake & Ohio at 51½ also reached a low point. Another cash loss by the banks was forecast by the week's known movements of currency. A decline of $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 was indicated.

EXPORT DEMAND FALLS OFF; PRICES SLUMP

MARKET CLOSING WEAK AT 1 TO 1½c UNDER.

Favorable Crop Advice Put the Corn Market on the Down Grade—Oats Also Suffer Loss.

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, July 11.—Sudden falling off in export demand today pulled wheat prices down. The market closed weak 1c to 1½c under last night. Corn suffered a loss of 1c to 1½c and oats 1c to 1½c.
The finish in provisions ranged from 5c off in an advance of 35c.

Weakness in wheat followed reports of general rains northwest tending to decided improvement of the spring crop on both sides of the Canadian line. No rallying power of any consequence developed in wheat, although acceptances from the country turned out much lighter than had been the rule for some time. Shorts furnished about the only support there was for the market so that final quotations were the lowest of the day.

BLAIR SPEAKS OF NEW

SCHOOL LEGISLATION

Educational Interests Have Much to Rejoice About Says Superintendent

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Blair in address to the officers and teachers of the schools has the following to say relative to the school legislation passed by the last general assembly. "It reads as follows:

"To teachers and officers: You have heard that the mills of God grind slowly and they grind exceeding small. You have also heard that the legislative mills have the same slow movement, and that the educational grist which they grind is most exceedingly small. There are two reasons. The people who bring the large bags of school bills either lack the motive power to make the wheels go round or they fail to apply it at the right place. Then the miller is a very particular man and decides the order in which the grist shall be ground. You may arrive early and stand patiently in the until the mill closes its doors without getting even a pleasant look from this particular person. Others who come near the close of the day may be allowed to pass ahead of you. Some of the best school legislation has thus been standing in line for three legislative sessions waiting for the favoring nod of the miller, but verily patience doth have its reward. After much standing and much waiting and much disappointment, there is cause for rejoicing.

"Though much that was offered either failed to get into the hopper or getting in, failed to get out, the school people returned home bearing more real progressive school legislation than ever came out of any previous session of the legislature.

"1. Another million added to the distributive fund with the assurance that an additional million will be added each session until the total equals the proceeds of the two-mill tax. That certainly is cause for rejoicing.

"2. A most comprehensive certifying law which takes the place of our out-grown and unjust law. While the new law will, no doubt, reveal some defect in operation, this can be easily removed.

"3. A free high school tuition act. After many trials and failures, it is believed that the law will stand the test of the courts and remove a great inequality in educational opportunity. A provision for allowing districts with a population of from one thousand to one hundred thousand to levy two percent for operating expenses. This will relieve many boards of education of what has been an impossible revenue situation.

"4. Large modification and extension of the teachers' pension laws and improvements in the manner of holding school elections.

"5. The establishment of a high school supervisor in the department of public instruction, the addition of three other members of the office force and ample funds.

"6. This, while three of the best educational bills offered failed of passage, we have large and sufficient cause for rejoicing over what was accomplished."

ECHOES FROM ALEXANDER

Alexander Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring towns?" The generous statement of this Alexander resident leaves no room for doubt on this point. John William Aulbaugh, farmer, Alexander, Ill., says: "About two years ago I took several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and will say that they did me more good than all the doctors I have tried. I have been bothered with my back very little since I used Doan's Kidney Pills."

The above is not an isolated case. M. Aulbaugh is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Aulbaugh had. 50c at all stores. POULTRY CULTURE.

Article XI.

Free or Restricted Choice—The poultryman who has money in abundance and is free to choose the best location for his undertaking is fortunate at least in this respect. He may search until he finds the best place for establishing his business. Usually, however, because of his home associations, family ties, business connections, personal preference for a given locality, state of health, limitation of capital or other controlling conditions the poultryman's choice of location is circumscribed. It then remains to select the most advantageous place of those that are available.

Sometimes one location only is possible and it becomes the duty of the poultryman to decide whether such location can be made to answer his purpose. An unfavorable location is more difficult to overcome than any other ordinary obstacle in poultry keeping.

Attractiveness—Advantages—The poultryman, while he considers the economic advantages of a location need not neglect the idea of natural beauty in the proposed poultry plant and its surroundings. Everything which makes his place pleasant helps to advertise his products. Friends, visitors and customers will be agreeably or otherwise affected by the natural scenery and landscape effects. Pleasant views from the plant will leave enjoyable impressions, especially if the buildings, fences and flocks all harmonize with their environment.

Convenience—A location should be chosen which will allow of a convenient arrangement of the buildings, yard, roads or paths and of easy communication with the highway. It will save labor and expense. It will make it possible to economize in many ways which will be fully considered in our course of study. It will tend to prevent dissatisfaction on the part of the poultryman and his helpers in planning and executing the details of the daily work of the plant. It is an important point that the location should permit and not prevent the best arrangement of all parts of the business. It saves trouble, loss and discomfort. It reduces the opportunities for offering excuses in the place of execution of duty. It lessens the occasions of discouragement and disappointment. It is the proper beginning of a systematic satisfactory business. Let the intending poultryman visit as many poultry plants as possible and study their locations, questions their owners and profit by the knowledge of their faulty and favorable features.

The chief factors to be studied in the location of the poultry plant in relation to: 1. Climate; 2. soil and drainage; 3. market and transportation, will be treated next week.—H. A. McKee, secretary, Illinois armers' institute.

The AYERS SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT

A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX is not a luxury but a necessity to the owner of stocks, bonds, deeds, mortgages, insurance policies and other valuable papers.

ANXIETY about jewelry or silverware not in use is dispelled when it is kept in a Safe Deposit Vault.

PRIVATE SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES in this great vault, protected by over 190 tons of steel, rest for less than a cent a day.

PRIVATE LOCKED COUPON ROOMS behind the grille work with desk, chair and writing material are at the disposal of the patrons as often as desired.

VISITORS WELCOME—An attendant will always be found at the vault who will be glad to show you through.

THE AYERS NATIONAL BANK

It's the Film That Makes The Picture

While none of us expect our cameras to reproduce pictures in all their original colors, still we find ourselves saying "It ought to look more natural." I wonder what's the trouble. Particularly is this so when we attempt to record outdoor pictures. Nature hides her paint box in spite of us.

But with Ansco Film and Cyko Paper we can accurately make different tones of black and white or sepia the values of the original colors. And unless the film you use does record these color values accurately, the results will be disappointing, no matter what paper you print your negatives on.

HILLERBY'S

DRY GOODS STORE.

AFTER the Fourth of July what do we do? With every progressive store in the land we bid Summer Merchandise a fond farewell.

It's just when you want the goods that we must close them out. We must sell the summer stuff when the public wants to buy. Whether we like it or not is not a factor. It's simply a supply, a demand problem. The quicker we sell the summer goods the better we are pleased. After five days of such intensive selling as we have had there's a big lot of stuff left. Many lots too small to advertise but with a style and wear that will suit you exactly so we have more special bargains than we had before. Its to your interest to see our display.

Odds and Ends in Silks and Dress Goods Much Less Than Cost.

Here's a few things that you need with very special prices attached and there's lots of other things we don't mention that you need.

Wiswell & Son Decide to Locate in the Ayers National Bank Building—Have Suite No. 405.

The latest addition to the ranks of tenants in the Ayers National bank building is the firm of George T. Wiswell & Son, real estate brokers. They will occupy suite No. 405, which is arranged in a way very suitable and convenient for their needs. The building with its modern equipment and conveniences has appealed to them strongly for some time as they have considered the question of a removal and the continued warm weather resulted in their final decision to get to office rooms which are continually cool and comfortable. With the rapidly increasing tenancy of the Ayers National bank building the advantages of the concentration of business are becoming more and more apparent. Tenants who were somewhat doubtful on this point in the beginning now recognize the advantages of being located where business is centered.

Messrs. Wiswell & Son have been in business as real estate brokers for a number of years and operating in a somewhat quiet way have nevertheless carried on extensive business, some important transfers in Morgan county and some in other states being credited to their account. Their brokerage includes in addition to sales, farm loans, insurance and other business of the same class. In their new location they will be better equipped than ever to take good care of their patrons and suite No. 405 will be found constantly accessible by means of the convenient elevator service which the Ayers National bank building maintains.

GREAT OUTING IS PLANNED.

L. P. Allcott may attend the annual convention and outing of representatives of the United Drug company, which is to be held in Boston Aug. 18 to 21. The prospectus of the outing has just been issued and shows that no expense will be spared in entertaining the visitors. In each city of considerable size there is just one druggist who sells the Rexall remedies manufactured by the United Drug company and he is a share holder in the company. The outing last year was held in St. Louis with three thousand druggists in attendance, the total number eligible to attendance being about 6000. The entertainment provided was along the most lavish lines and this is the rule followed at the annual gatherings.

Culver-Colvin.

Word comes from Kearney, Neb., of the recent marriage of Carl A. Culver of Fort Collins, Col., to Miss Edna Catherine Colvin of Kearney. The ceremony was said at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Eueba Colvin. Mr. Culver is a nephew of A. C. Rice of this city and was at one time a student of Whipple academy and Illinois college. Mrs. Culver was formerly a high school teacher in Denver, Col. The young people will reside on a farm near Fort Collins.

REBUILDING BLACKSMITH SHOP

John Reif, whose blacksmith shop was destroyed by fire in the recent conflagration at Alexander, is rebuilding the structure and has it about ready for the front to be erected. In the same fire the Methodist church building was also destroyed and the building committee which is taking subscription for the fund toward erecting a new church has been meeting with excellent success in the work. While plans for the new building have not been definitely settled upon it is understood that a handsome brick structure is to be erected.

DUNNE GIVES NOTICE TO REPUBLICANS

WARNS THEM THAT RESIGNATIONS WILL BE ASKED IF NECESSARY.

Administration is to Be Democratic In So Far as the Chief Executive Has Power—Complete List of Appointments Will Be Ready in Thirty or Forty Days.

A score or more Republican office holders received unwelcome missives Friday from Gov. Dunne, requests for their resignations. The governor issued a statement on the matter of appointments in which he came out clearly and said that this is to be a democratic administration in so far as lies within his power and that he is about ready to make all appointments. Further Governor Dunne said that as soon as he was ready to announce appointees that if the offices had not been vacated by the present incumbents that resignations would be demanded.

he governors statements follows: "Ready To Consider Appointments. For the first time since by election as governor, I find myself in a situation in which I can dispassionately and clearly consider appointments. I intend to dispose of most of the patronage within my disposal within the next thirty or forty days. All applications shall receive fair and just consideration. This means a laborious task as for practically each of the places at my disposal there are from twenty to 100 applicants.

"It will be my endeavor to distribute the positions within my disposal as fairly as I can and I shall try to give to each legislative district a proper proportion.

Many Sure to Be Disappointed.

"It is unfortunate that there must of necessity be so many disappointments among applicants, but that is unavoidable, as there are thousands of applicants while the positions at the governor's disposal are very few indeed. A few of the appointees of the former administration have not yet tendered their resignations and I shall today write and request them to do so. This administration is to be democratic insofar as the places go that are within the governor's control. I don't like to be compelled to remove a public official, but may be obliged to take that action in regard to appointees who do not tender me their resignations by the time I am ready to fill their places.

"The administrative officials subject to my appointment should have the confidence of and be in sympathy with the chief executive. Most of the holdover officials have recognized this fact and courteously tendered their resignations. Others have not."
